

Infection Control

Complete Hygiene Solutions

Triple Crown

It is a well recognised fact that a primary step to infection control is good hand hygiene practices.

We can supply the Purell hand sanitiser and soap systems as used extensively throughout the NHS and the world wide health care sector. These products are manufactured to the highest standard and offer the user the most outstanding degree of hand hygiene when used as part of a hand washing and drying regime. We offer a complimentary range of cost efficient alternative products and hand lotions to help keep skin in a good condition.

Hand hygiene is only the start of infection control and CHS supply a range of products from surface cleaners and sanitisers to specialist liquid enzyme digesters to eliminate micro organisms left behind by normal cleaning methods.

All of our products are manufactured and tested to exceed the current ISO and British Standards in their specific fields of operation and where ever possible our manufacturer partners use environmentally safe practices and base ingredients.
